EARTH SATELLITES DISCUSSED

Plan to be on hand this Wednesday evening, December 4th, to hear Dr. Lloyd V. Berkner speak on "Earth Satellites." The talk will take place at 8:30 p.m. in the Research Staff Lounge.

Dr. Berkner was a member of Admiral Byrd's Antarctic Expedition in 1928-30 and built the first radio station of the Great Ross Ice Barrier. He was also one of the early workers on the proximity fuse and during the war directed the radar section of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics. He is president of the International Council of Scientific Unions and vice-president of its special committee for the International Geophysical Year.

The Federation of American Scientists cordially invites all employees to come and bring their interested friends. Exit passes will be available for non-employees. If further information is desired, contact M. Kugler, Sec.-Treas.

BARYLLI QUARTET THRILLS AUDIENCE

An enthusiastic audience of about 225 enjoyed the November 25 performance of the Barylli Quartet, the second concert of this year's BERA series.

The program began with the Mozart Quartet in B flat major, K.458. The sensitive performance of this left no doubt as to the perfection of ensemble-playing attained by the Barylli group. This was followed by the Beethoven Quartet in F minor, Opus 95. The concert came to a brilliant finale with a performance of the Schubert Quartet in D minor, Opus Posth. The lyric quality of the slow movement (which uses as its theme the Schubert song "Death and the Maiden") was beautifully contrasted with the vigorous Presto which closes the quartet. The break-neck tempo of this last movement offered no hazards to the Barylli Quartet.

Because of the enthusiastic audience reaction, the Quartet returned to the stage and played one movement of a Mozart quartet as an encore. After the concert, refreshments were served in the lobby of the Research Staff Building. Many members of the audience, particularly the Germans and Austrians visiting Brookhaven, enjoyed the opportunity of conversing with Messrs. Barylli, Strasser, Streng, and Brabec.

FILM STUDY GROUP TO PRESENT "THE BED" ON MONDAY, DECEMBER 9

Three international diplomats and their chauffeur, fog-bound for the night in a railroad watchman's shack, recount four "bedtime" stories. Each of the short stories is directed by a very deft hand — among the directors represented are Henri Decoin (Her First Affair), Jean Delannoy (The Eternal Return, God Needs Men), Ralph Habib (Panic), and Gianni Franciolini (It Happened in the Park). Among the top stars of France, Italy and England who are featured, Vittorio de Sica is outstanding. The episodes abound with frankness, surprises and laughter.

"Gay and saucy Gallic frankness about light-hearted sex."

—NEW YORK WORLD TELEGRAM

"The frankest sort of humor." —NEW YORK TIMES

The film will be shown at the Lecture Hall, 8:30 p.m. Admission - 50¢.

LADY KEGLERS COLUMN

Tuesday night was what you might term "general upset night". All the lower averaged teams walked away with the wins. Biology took three from Odds and Ends, tying up first place again. Health Physics took two from Chemistry; Handicappers took three from Nightingales and the All Thumbs took two from Medical. High game for the night was rolled by Gwen Bober with a 188 (this gal's average is 113 - NICE BOWLING!). Clara Bjerknes with a 102 average rolled a 144 game. Marty Heine of the Nightingales with a 124 average rolled 149, 151 and 147. Nice work girls, let's see some more of this kind of bowling.

BASKETBALL RESULTS

Biology, sparked by their center, Bill Ray (who scored 16) took the measure of the Phoubar Phive 44 to 32. The Phoubars, trailing all the way, came within 6 points in the last quarter but could not break through the Biology defense. Starr and Sabine each scored 10 for the losers.

In the second game of the evening Bill Johnson's Nuclear Eng. team got off to a fast start in the first quarter as they compiled a 10 point lead over Metallurgy. However, their advantage was short-lived as they were overtaken by the end of the half 25-22. From this point on, stamina was the story. Metallurgy started a fast break which ran Nuclear off the court 59-29. Billy (The Kid) Lanyi scored 23 for the victors. J. Brandon and Larry Kukacka fouled out in the last quarter.

BOWLING BITS

Monday: It was due to happen and it did! Coming out of a 12 point losing streak the Operators knocked off (you guessed it) the first place Fire Dept. 1 for 4 points, squeezing the league standings a little closer. Potter's 186 was high for this match.

The Glass House Gang took another step downward to 4th place losing 4 points to the very hot Splitters. 201 games were posted by A. Fasano and B. Gaffga.

B. Jones' Metalmen had a good night winning 4 points off the Reefer's despite J. Scandizzzo's 198 in the last game.

Wednesday, Thursday: Holiday, no bowling.
